Asha-way-buc, the Chippewa word for changing times, has a special meaning for Maine West's 2,465 students this year. Many changes have occurred in the school district this year. Maine North was closed, a new superintendent took over, enrollment continued to decline, a new school spirit was evident, and the yearbook has changed too.

In keeping with the tone of the year, this year's Legend is dedicated to presenting the changes of the school year. A major change, the renewed spirit, led us to bring some authenticity to the Legend of the Maine West Warriors.

Pictured at right is Erwin Holmes, a full-blooded Chippewa who has helped us in our attempt at authenticity. All Chippewa words in this edition have been translated and phonetically spelled by Erwin because the Chippewa never had a written language.

New Students, Superintendent, Spirit Exemplify Asha-way-buc

Sanjyot, a Pom Pon member at Maine West, works on an experiment in A.P. Chemistry.

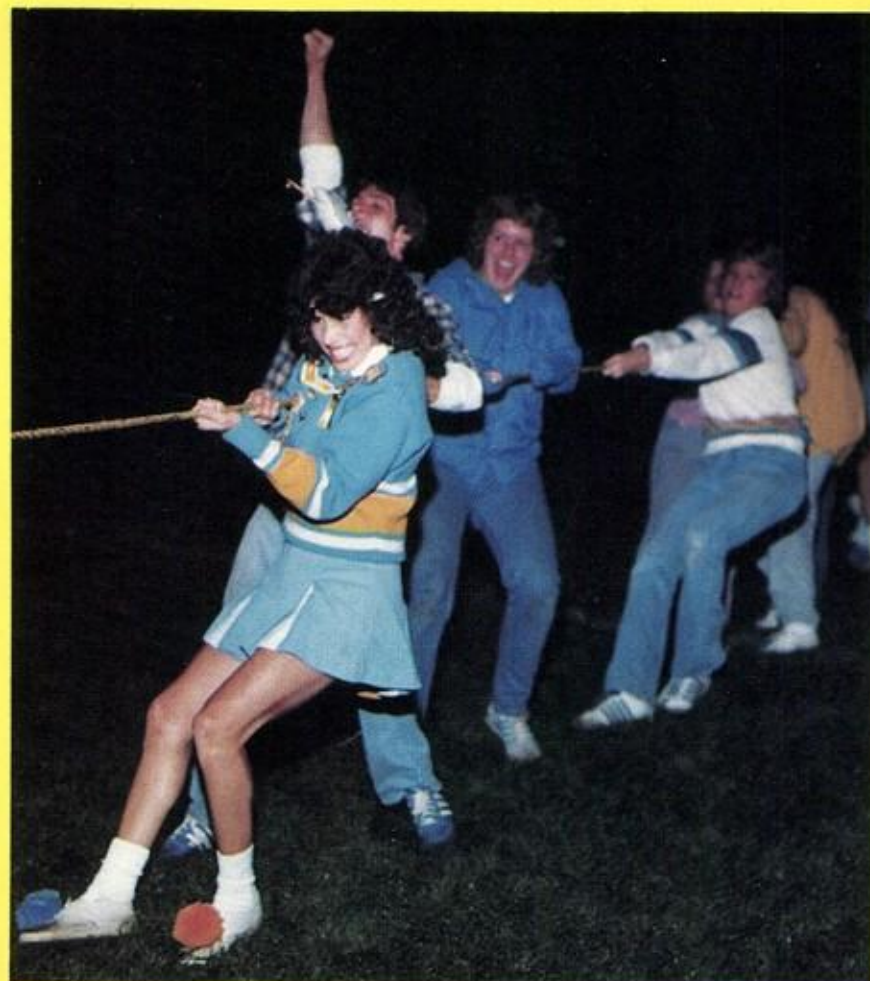

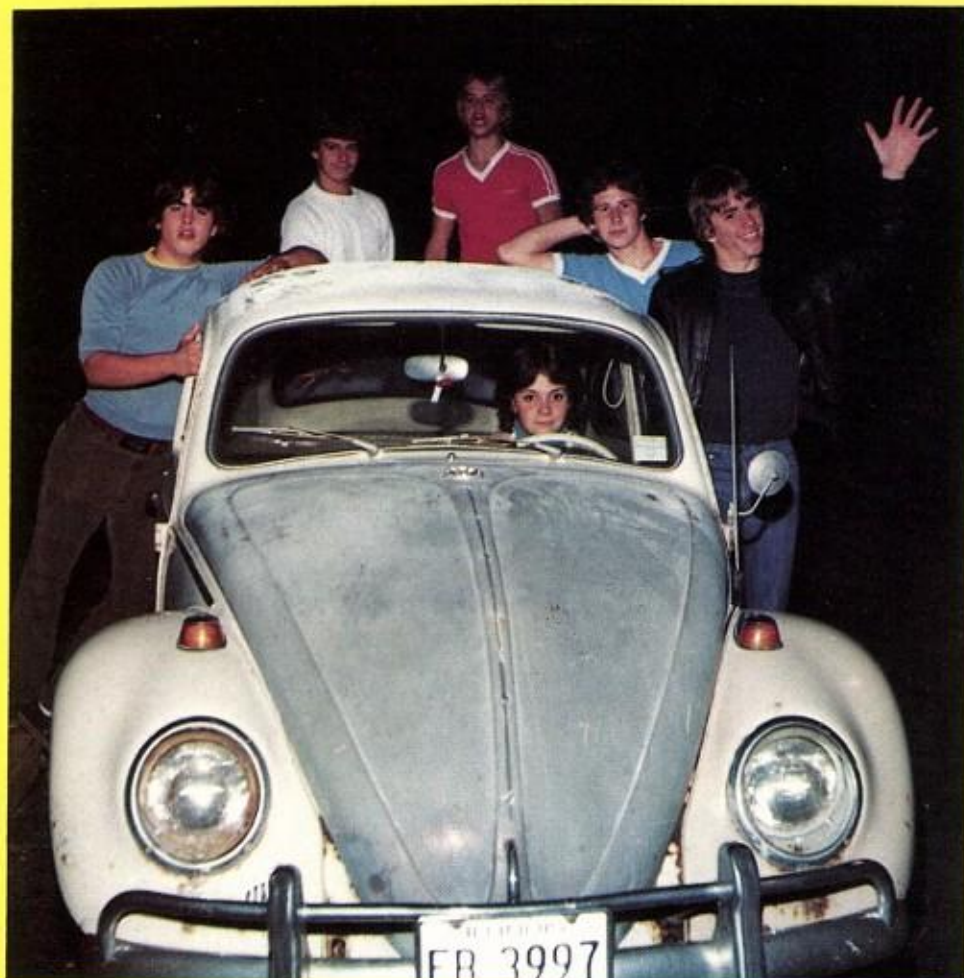

The former students of Maine North now attend either East or West. We have tried to welcome these students and help them to adjust to our school. Now it seems that they have always been here and we truly hope that they feel at home, too. We asked former Maine North students to explain to us what it is like to have their school close.

Changing high schools has been an experience, but I can't say that it was a bad one. The people here at West have been quite friendly and have accepted us rather quickly. Of course it hasn't been easy; there are still many times when I feel lonely and "out of it", but the friendly atmosphere has helped me to feel at ease. Naturally I will never lose the Norseman spirit, but I now feel I am a part of Maine West.

Coach Lou Gartner

After the tragic death of Coach Lou Gartner, the Maine West Gridders with the help of the new head coach, Derrill Kipp, dedicated the season to Coach Gartner. Plagued with injuries and hurt by their small size, the team managed to keep up their enthusiasm throughout the long year with its daily practices and weekly games. The team made it down to state but lost the first match to Mother McAuley who went on to win the tournament. Maine West won the first game of the match but lost the next two.

Honor Societies Promote Scholarships

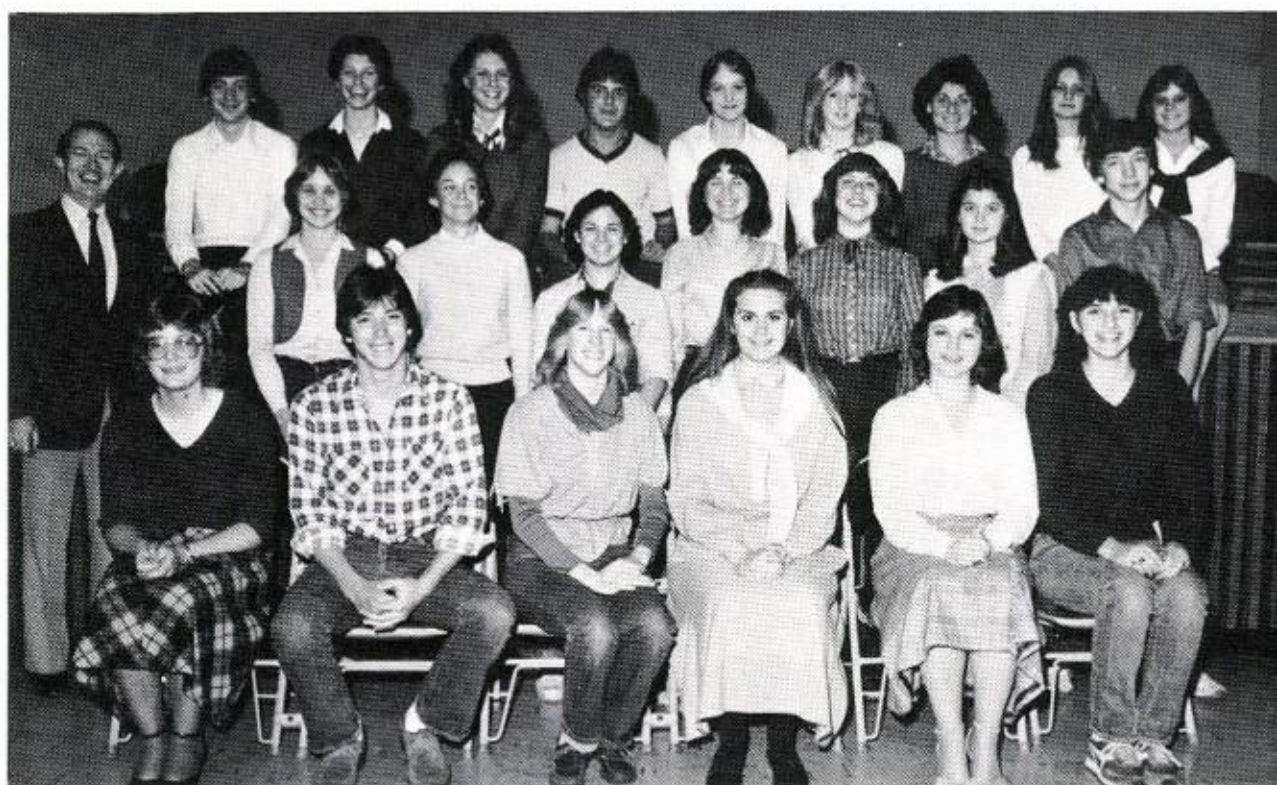

Maine West's National Historical Society is for the finest history students. Essentially, it is an honorary society for students who do well on the History honors exam. This past year was the first time that the club was active. An in-school field trip to hear Dr. Robert Hodge, Chairman of Beloit College's History Department, was one of the club's highlights. He spoke on "Changing History Interpretations"

"It is a pleasure to work with the Historical Society because they are such top notch students," explained Mr. Dewane Barnes, the club's sponsor.

Another honor society is Tri-M, Modern Music Masters, an international music society. It was founded by Maine Township music teachers. Maine West's chapter is one of two-thousand chapters around the world. Students with an "A" average in music and a "B" average in other subjects are eligible to be nominated for Tri-M.

Student Council Develops Leadership

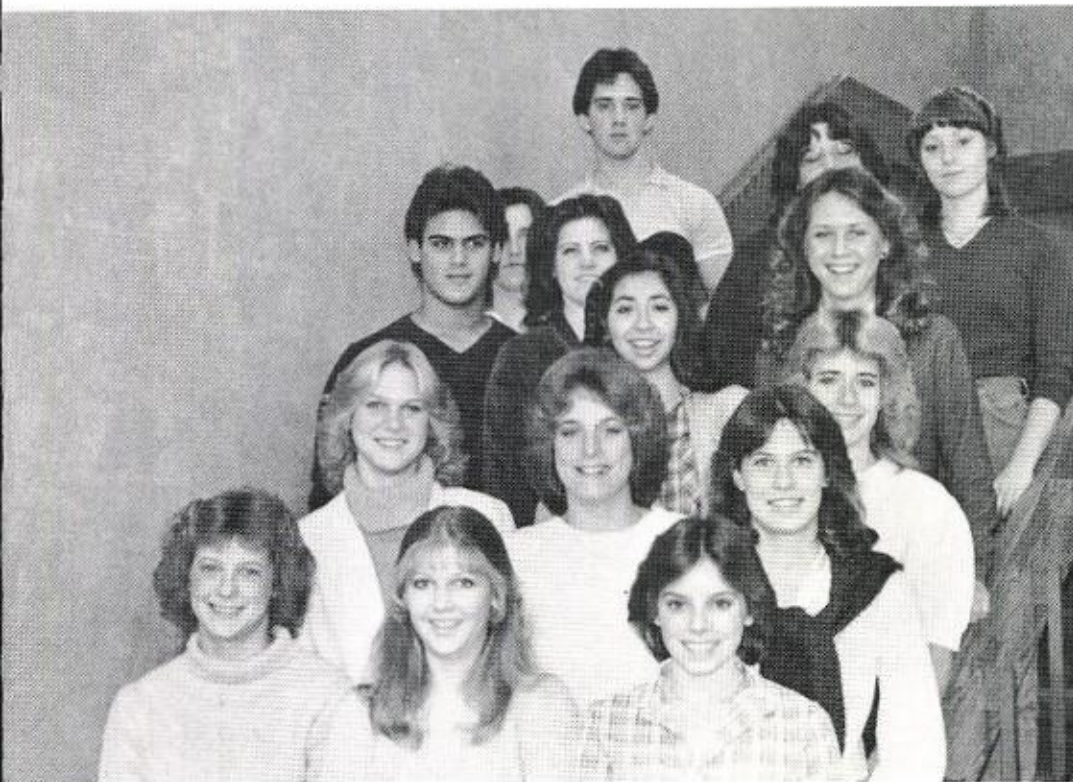

Student Council members accomplished a lot this year. To begin with, they were in charge of the election of the King and Queen for Homecoming. They organized the Winter Formal and the Girls' Choice Dance, "Turnabout." During the holidays, Student Council members showed spirit by having Christmas card deliveries. For Valentine's Day, they had a Secret Admirer's Day, in which students sent flowers and cookies to their "admirees". In May, they helped people by organizing a blood drive at Maine West.

Coburns Host Rotary Student

Olwen Pate, a Rotary International student, arrived at Maine West in January. She will remain in the U.S. for a year. Olwen introduced Maine West students to the thoughts of another continent. She expressed her thoughts about coming to America.

"It was very exciting to learn that my destination, being a Rotary Exchange student from Zimbabwe, would be America. It seemed to me that America was the ideal place to learn about a different culture and life, as Rotary has set out to teach the young people of the world.

Knowing that I was coming to the Coburn family, Des Plaines and Maine West made my transition into my new environment very smooth. The fact that the Coburns are one of the most lovely families that an exchange student could ask for, has made being away from my own family not nearly as bad as I thought it would be."

Maine West band director, Mr. Paul Magnusson, explained, "I'm extremely proud that our band was chosen to perform at such a prestigious event. We represented our school and community to the best traditions of Maine West." The band also went to Comisky Park earlier in the year to lead The Chicago Sting onto a thrilling victory.

Pom Pon, Cheerleaders Promote Spirit

On Saturday December 5, 1981, the Maine West Pom Pon Squad participated in a clinic at Rich Central High School. The squad brought home two of the three first place awards, firsts in the original pom pon and the prop/dance categories and a third in the speed learning category.

Spirit is an important part of school life and the Pom Pon girls and Cheerleaders are always ready to promote it. They work hard to perfect their routines and cheers and the hard work pays off.

Parent Groups Boost Warrior Spirit

Maine West Mothers for Scholarships sponsored its annual fashion show on May 1 to raise scholarship funds. Local Merchants provided fashions and donated prizes. More than $4,000 was raised for scholarships last year.

With funds raised from operating concession stands and sponsoring the Homecoming Pancake breakfast, the Athletic Boosters purchased new weight lifting equipment and a video tape machine. The Boosters also sponsor Sports Awards Night and Coaches Night.

Lori and Bill Stenzel led the Maine West Music Boosters for the 1981-82 school year. At the opening meeting, the Stenzels reaffirmed the goals of the boosters as a parent support group aiding students. Music Boosters sponsored their first Madrigal Dinner and their first annual spaghetti dinner.

Social Science, Business Students

TOP: Five Des Plaines policemen talked to students about the privacy rights of individuals in the Law and American Society class. LEFT: More than 600 social science students learned about the NASA space program from Mr. John Hartsfield, a NASA educational coordinator from the Cleveland Lewis Research Center. Students learned about the consumer benefits from the nation's space and research programs including nutrition, energy, computers and other space age advancements related to the technological research. ABOVE: In her Accounting I class, Mrs. Betty Duff teaches her students about the balances of life.

Gain Civic, Practical Experiences

"Change, ideas, heritage, and civic responsibility are at the heart of the social sciences," according to Social Science chairman Mr. Eric Edstrom.

World cultures, western traditions and values, American history, government, and the behavioral sciences are organized around these central ideas and values that are keys to future survival. Emphasis is given to reading, writing, research skills, and the ability to communicate ideas to others.

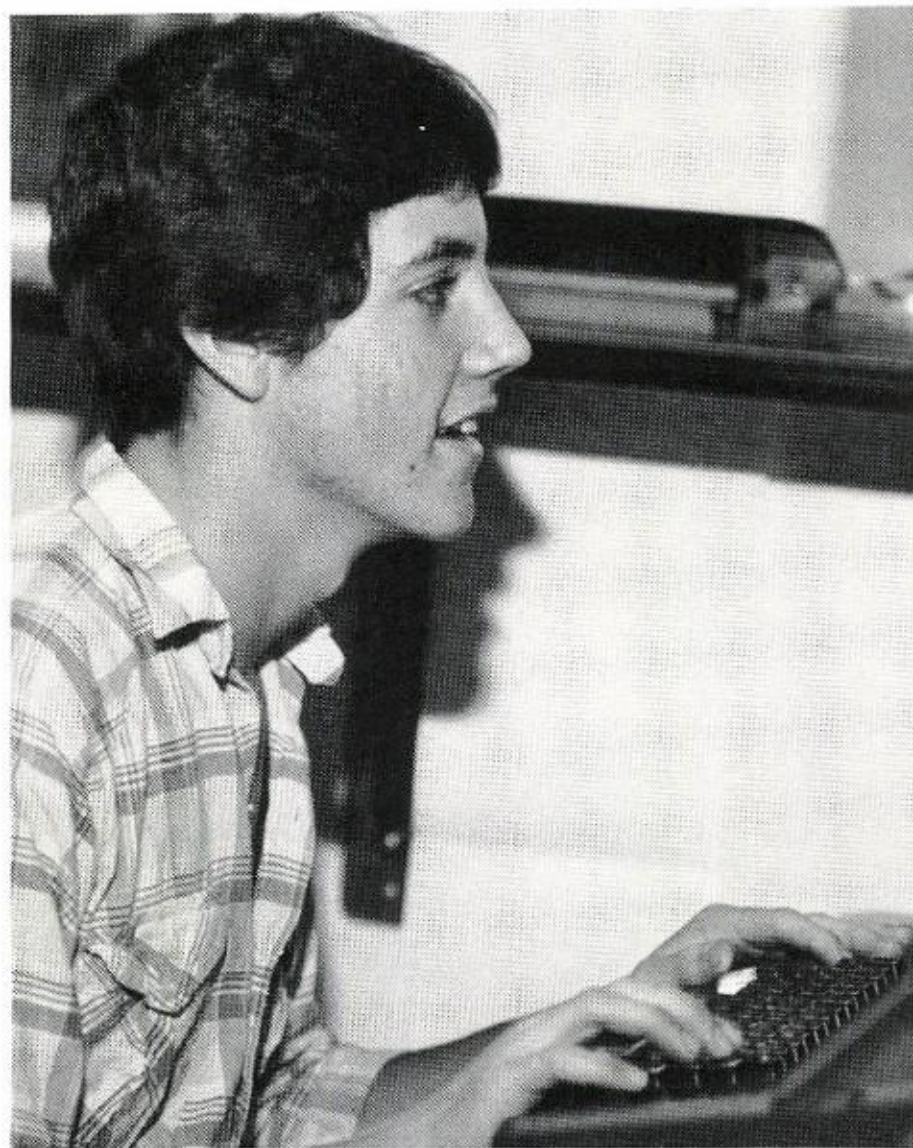

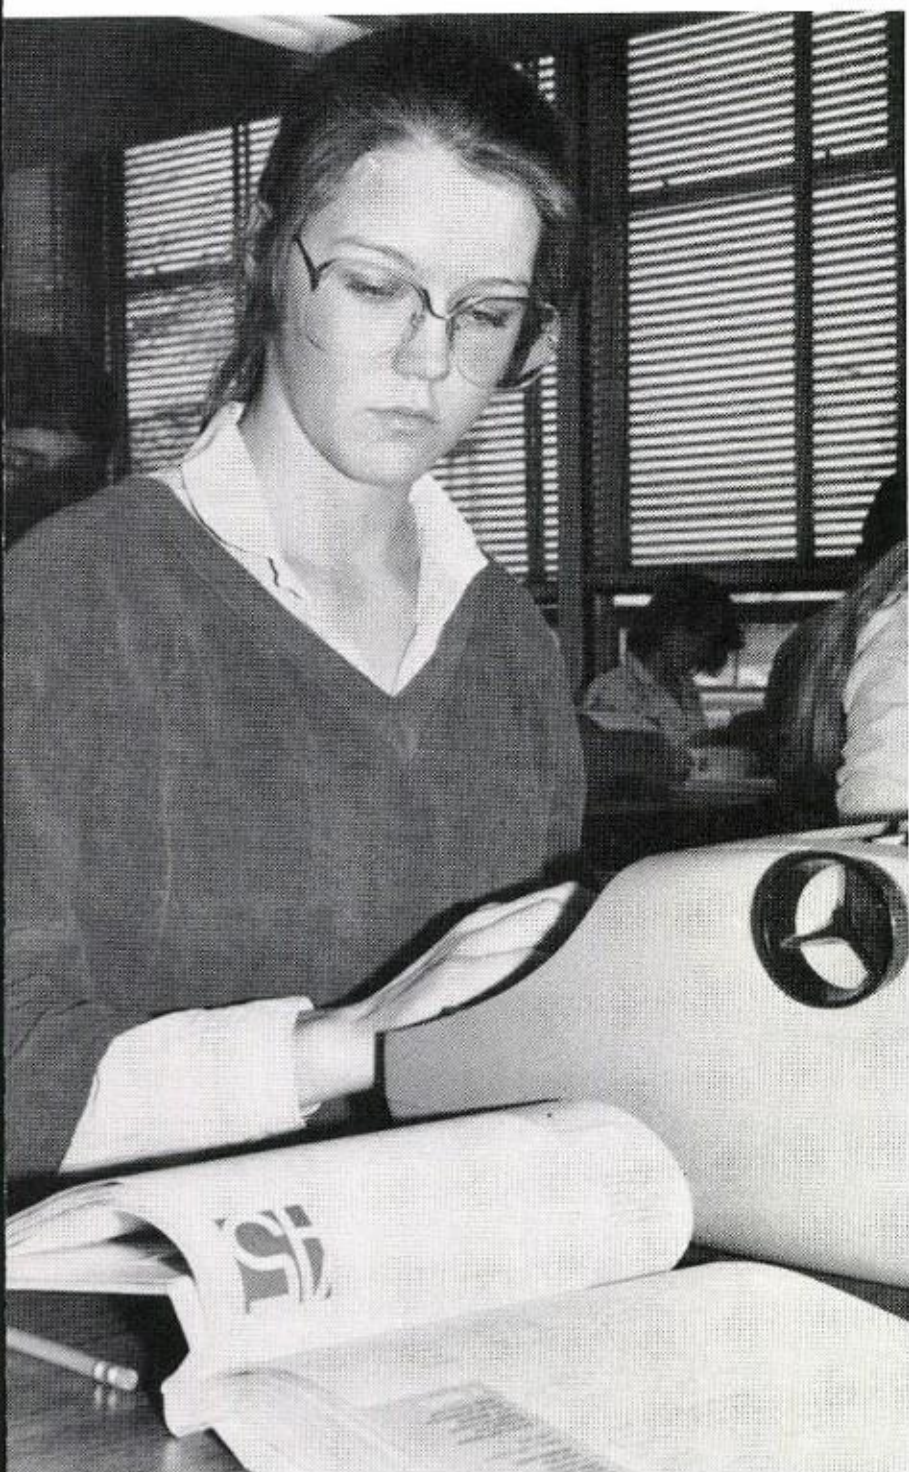

Classroom theory is supported by clinical experiences in the community through the Clinical Government program, cooperation with the Des Plaines Police Department, interviews conducted with the local citizens whose valued experiences are shared with the young, and competition in history fairs, speech competition, and programs dealing with the leaders of the community, state, and nation.

The Business Education Department educates students for and about business. Through business courses, students gain skills and knowledge for initial employment and develop an understanding of the American business system. Students are informed of their rights and responsibilities as consumers, producers, and citizens in that system.

The business program at Maine West has been organized to insure vocational competency and to develop economics understanding.

Course offerings include typing, accounting, steno, data processing, business math, machine shorthand, distributive education, and office occupations.

"All students would benefit from a typewriting class sometime during their four years to better prepare to function in our keyboard society," observed Mr. Stan Rhodes, department chairman.

Second Language Important to U.S.

In recent years America has suffered increasingly from its inability to speak with world neighbors. At the diplomatic level, many American ambassadors and embassy personnel do not know the language of the country in which we are represented. In the international business community, American salesmen frequently must hope that their would-be customers speak English. It is partly because of our inability to communicate with the rest of the world that we are far below our potential in diplomacy and world trade.

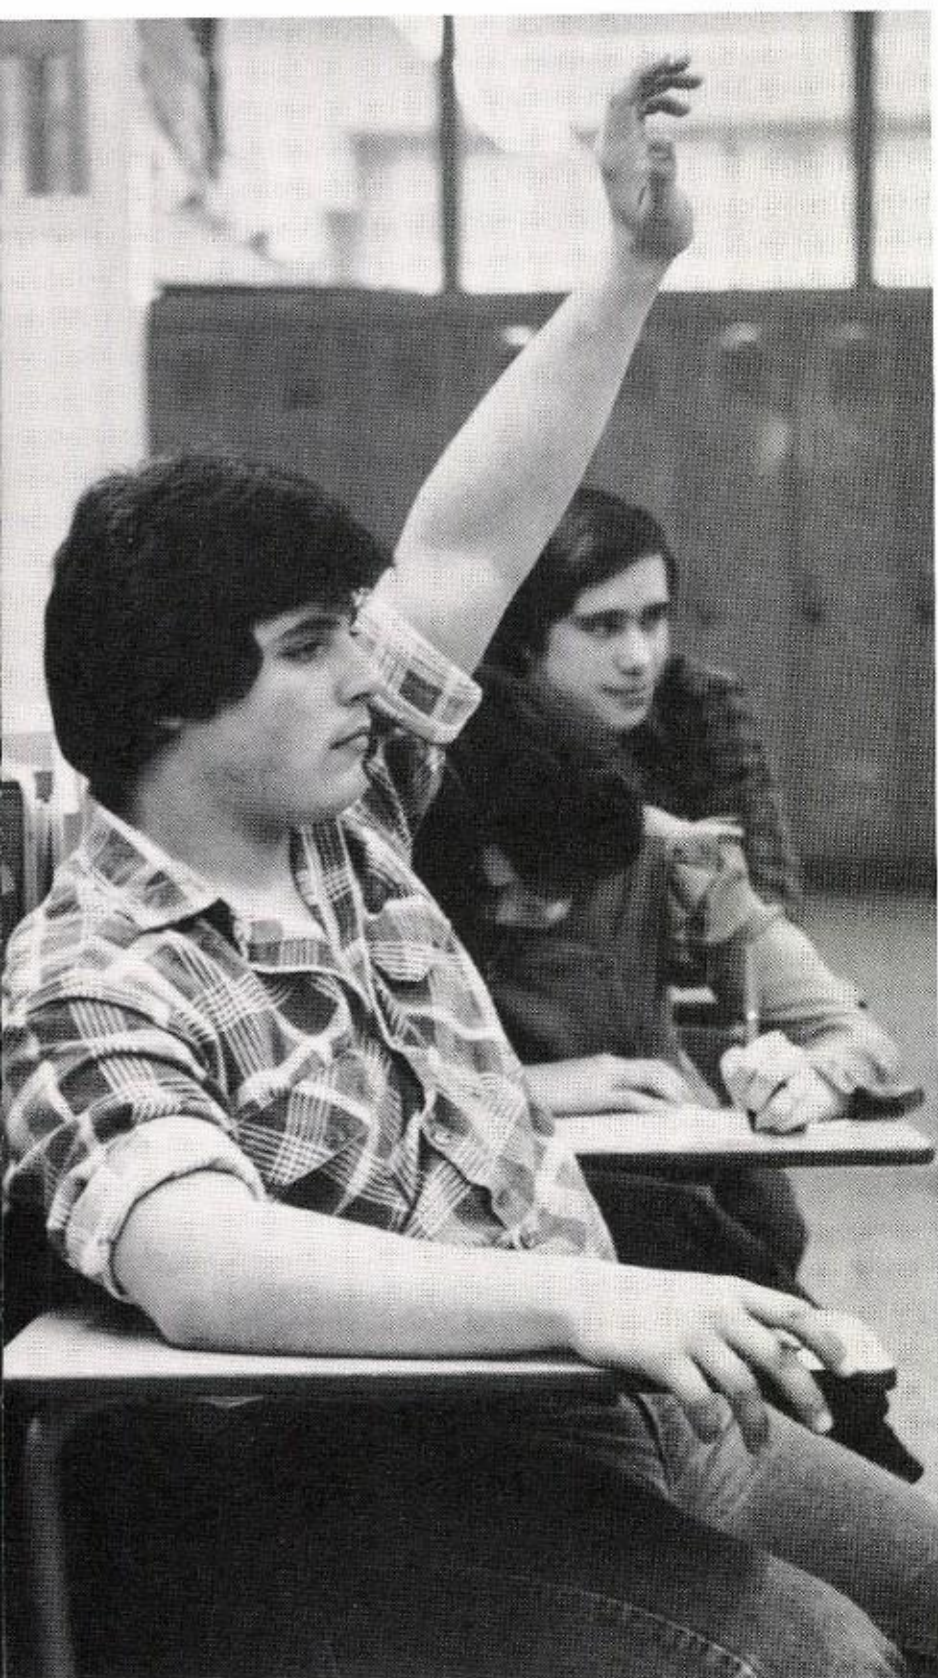

"A young person today who plans a career in business, law, or most other professions can increase his or her worth immeasurably by learning a second language," noted Mr. Daniel Holbrook, Language Chairman.

Maine West offers four years of Latin, French, German, and Spanish for students who are considering a career—or maybe just a more enjoyable stay in another country.

Languages Key to Communications Door

Meaning is created and expressed by symbols, and the greatest and most complex symbolic system is language. The study of language affects how information is acquired, how attitudes are influenced, and how meaning is transmitted and received.

"The task of English education is to develop the students' awareness of language and meaning, and as a department we work for steady growth in the students' ability to read critically, to write clearly and compellingly, and to find enjoyment and wisdom in good literature," explained the English Chairman, Mr. Gene Hass.

Maine West's academic program requires that each student complete three years of English. Senior elective course offerings include Creative Writing, World Literature, English Literature, Individualized Reading, Journalism, Industrial English, and Advanced Placement English.

Industrial Education, Home Economics

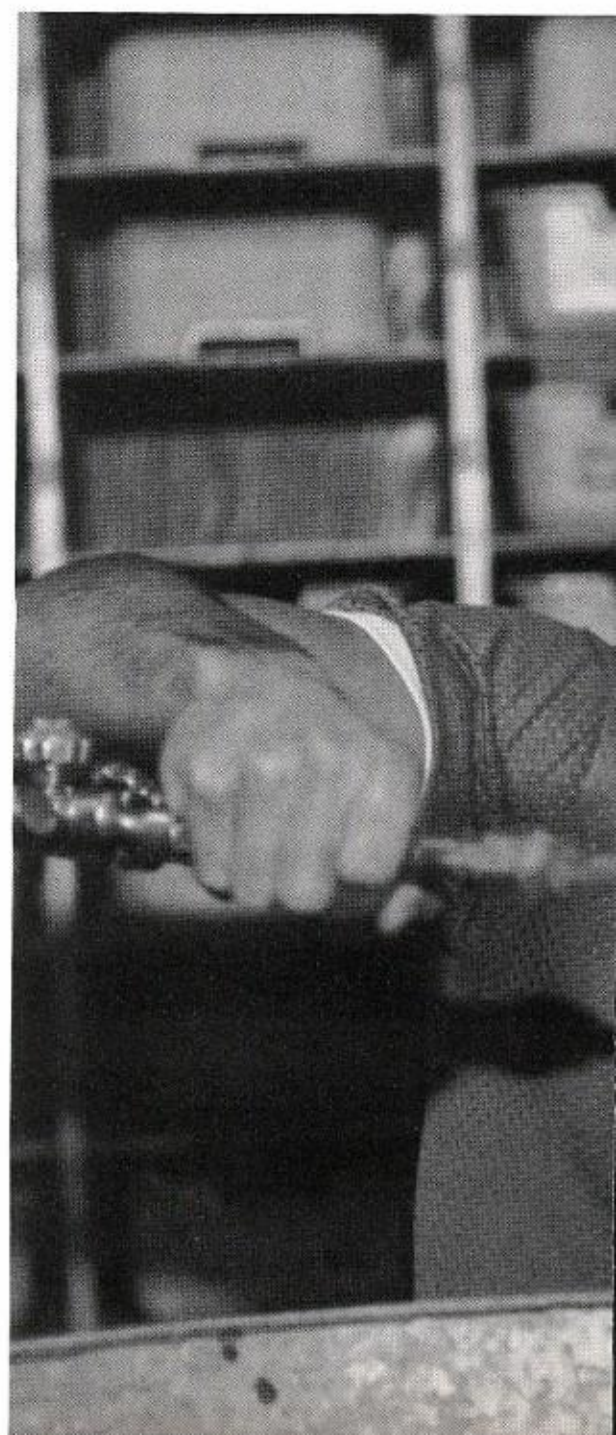

"In our modern industrial society, every student needs to develop an understanding of the functions, technology, and occupational opportunities of industry," explained Mr. Art Sheldrup, chairman of Industrial Education.

The Industrial Education programs provide the opportunity to study about industry, material, and fabrication procedures; methods of communication through drawing and graphic arts; and the industrial and consumer use of finished products, such as electrical devices and how power is developed.

Graphics, metals, auto mechanics, electronics, mechanical and architectural drawing, woods and machine shop all represent Maine West's course offerings in Industrial Education.

ABOVE: In Mr. Bianco's Auto Shop II class John Riportella and a classmate work on an auto part. TOP MIDDLE: Jodi Liggett burns the candle at only one end to keep her material from unraveling. TOP RIGHT: Miss Morton's Child Care Occupations students learn, participate, and teach all at once because they take care of pre-schoolers as a regular part of their course. LOWER RIGHT: In Mrs. Ohlmacher's Independent Living class, Tracy Maher and David Sackrison eat a meal they planned and prepared. LOWER MIDDLE: From under his protective goggles, Tim Harris casts jewelry in Mr. Wood's Design/Materials II class.

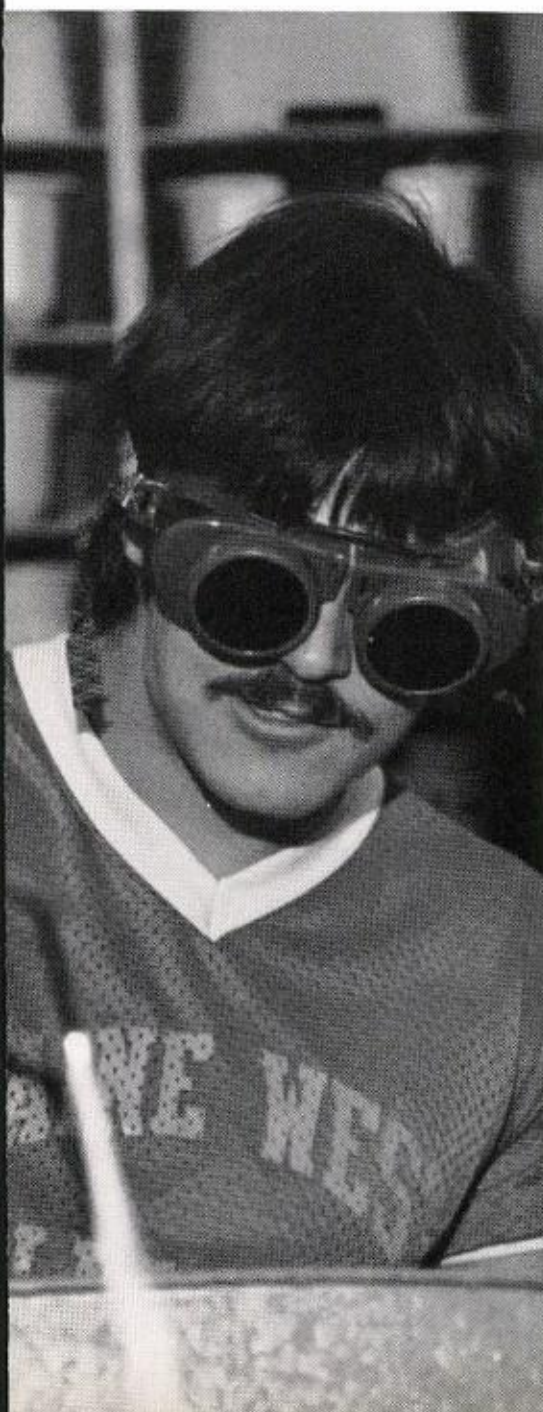

Students Learn 'Life' Skills

The title Home Economics conjures up ideas of "cooking" and "sewing." But at Maine West, Home Economics is much more. Home Economics, as it is taught at Maine West, encompasses six large areas of concentration: Foods and Nutrition; Clothing and Textiles; Child Development; Housing, Furnishings, and Interior Design; Personal and Family Relationships; and Consumer Education. In addition to these programs, the department offers an extensive Cooperative Education program which enables upper grade students to attend school and at the same time have on-the-job experiences in the world of work. Career orientation focused on Food Occupations, Child Care Occupations, and Clothing and Interior Design Occupations.

"In Home Economics students are encouraged to develop an awareness of the importance of managing the resources of time, energy, money, and materials," explained Mrs. Lucille Stiles, chairperson of Home Economics.

"They learn to prepare for the multi-roles of mate, homemaker, wage-earner, parent, and citizen," she added.

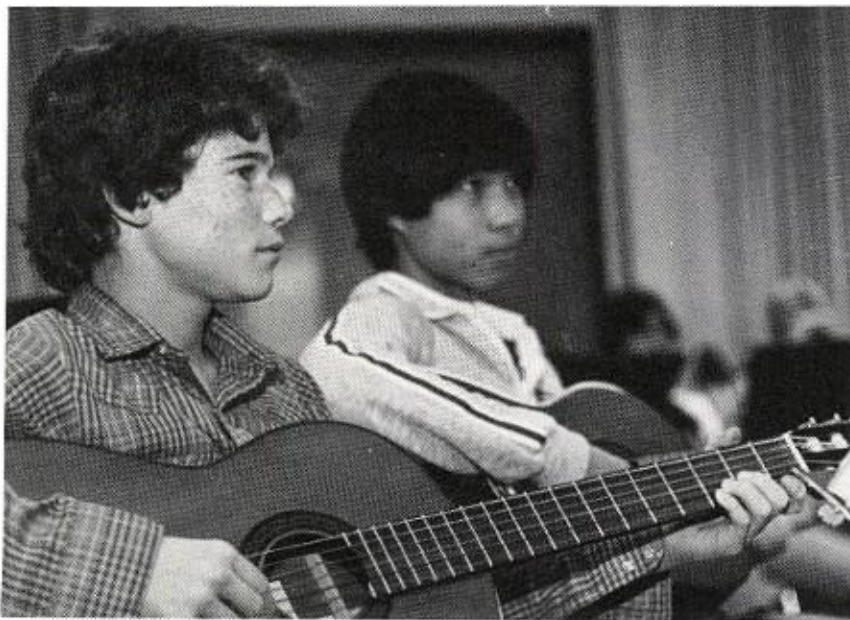

Music, Art Offer Students Cultural

Music is an important part of the educational opportunities offered to Maine West students.

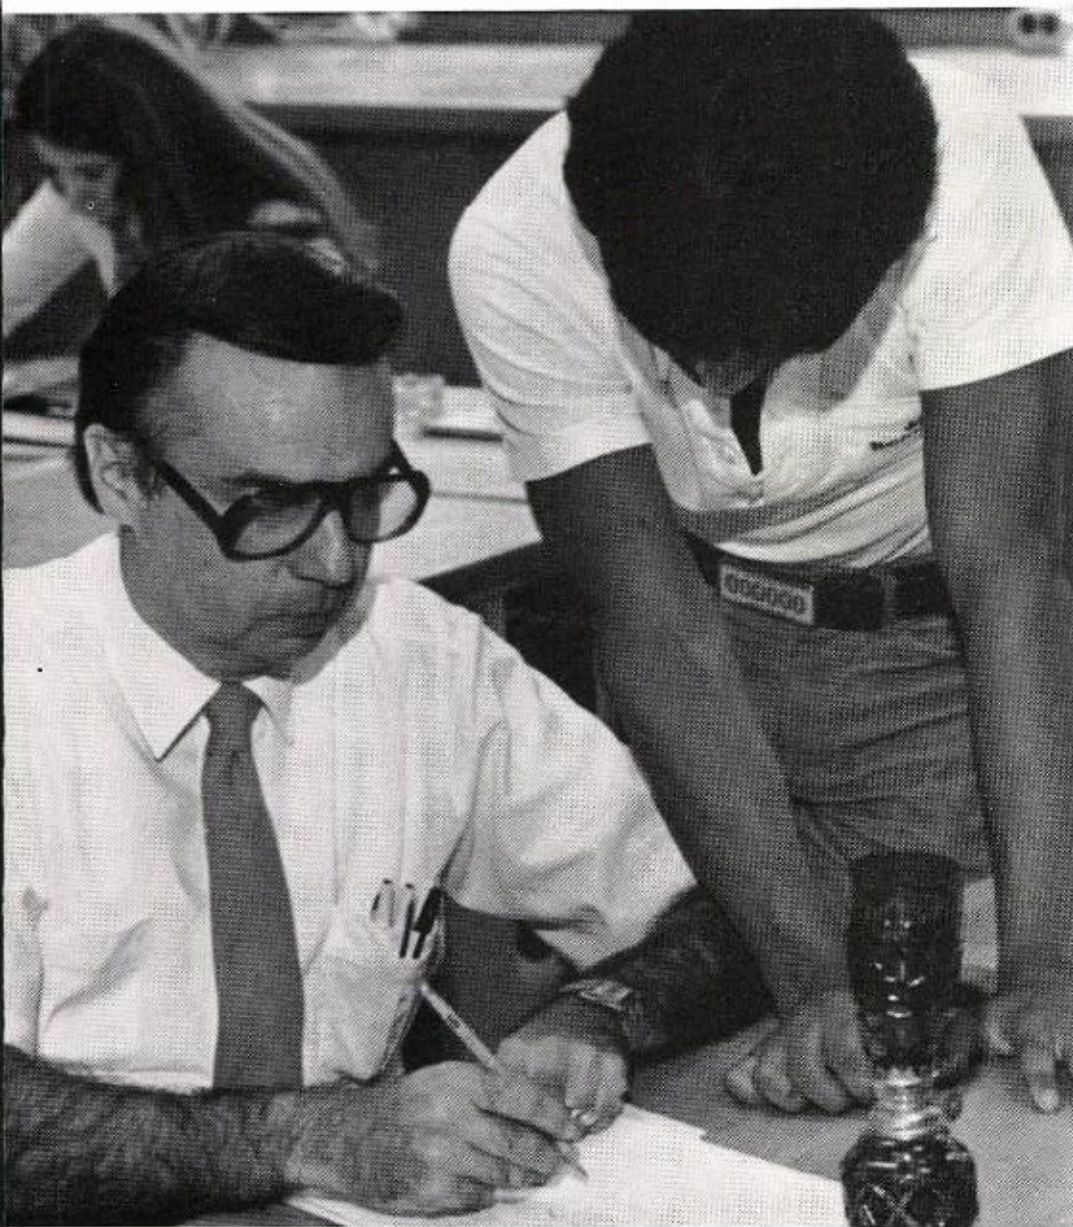

Class offerings include two levels of Music Theory, Elective Music, Guitar, Mixed Chorus, Concert Choir, Band, and Orchestra, and Marching Band.

"The Music Department's fine organizations serve the students' interests and needs in a manner that will develop their musical abilities and enrich the cultural—aesthetic area of their lives by developing a broad base for the performance and appreciation for all types of music," noted Robert Kuite, music department chairman.

Enrichment Courses

"The Will to Think, the Power to Express" summarizes the philosophy of Maine West's art department. The goals of the department include the development of critical and appreciative powers, the need to judge and develop opinions, and the aesthetic development through exposure.

Students experience the satisfaction in creativeness in Art I, II, III, and IV, Design and Materials I and II, and photography.

Science Students Use Modern Labs;

"Knowledge of science and an awareness of how it affects our daily lives is important to each of us as individuals, as members of society, and as a hope for the future," observed Mr. Louis Bergdolt, chairman of the science department.

Students are taking advantage of the opportunities offered in the Maine West Science Department. They are working in well-equipped laboratories. From the freshman General Science and Physical Science courses to the college-level Advanced Placement Biology and Chemistry programs, they are learning to understand the natural world in which they live and are preparing themselves to meet new challenges after graduation.

RIGHT: Vivien Eschenbach, Julie Androff, Preeti Parikh, and Ellie Duntemann observe a wavelength device in Physics I Acc. BELOW: Ken Fillipp and Sandy Comstock examine and identify rocks in Earth Science.

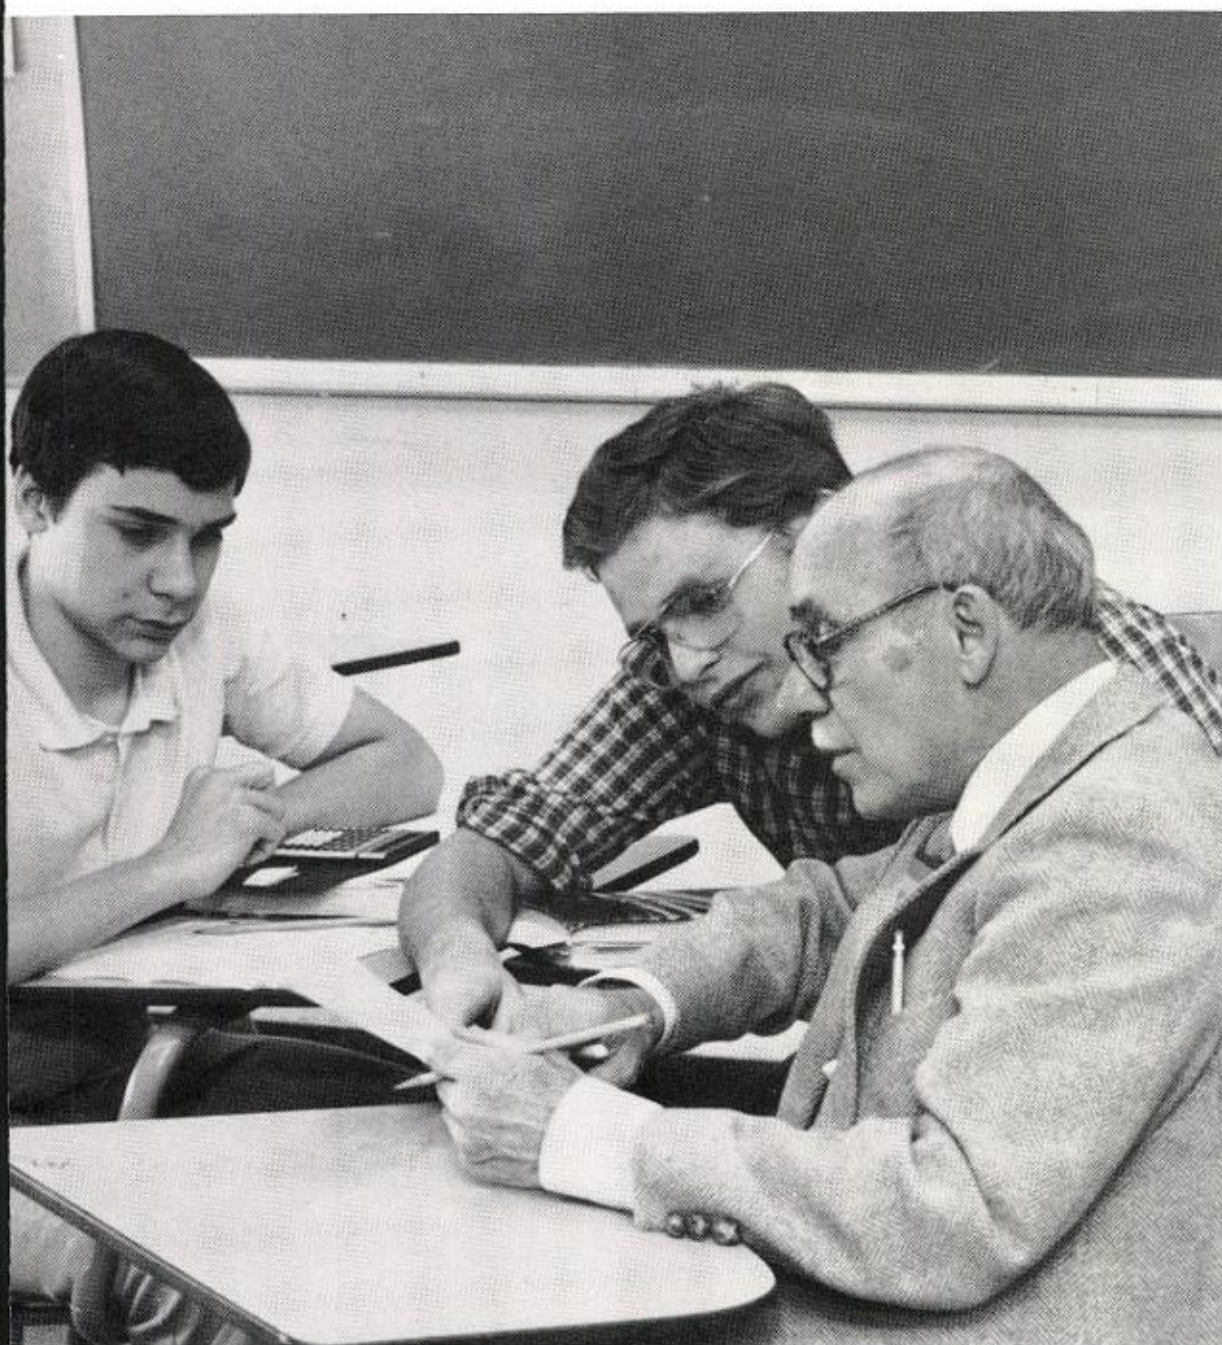

Apple Shines for Math Students

Roger VanWazer obtain help from Advanced Math IV teacher, Mr. Richard Frey.

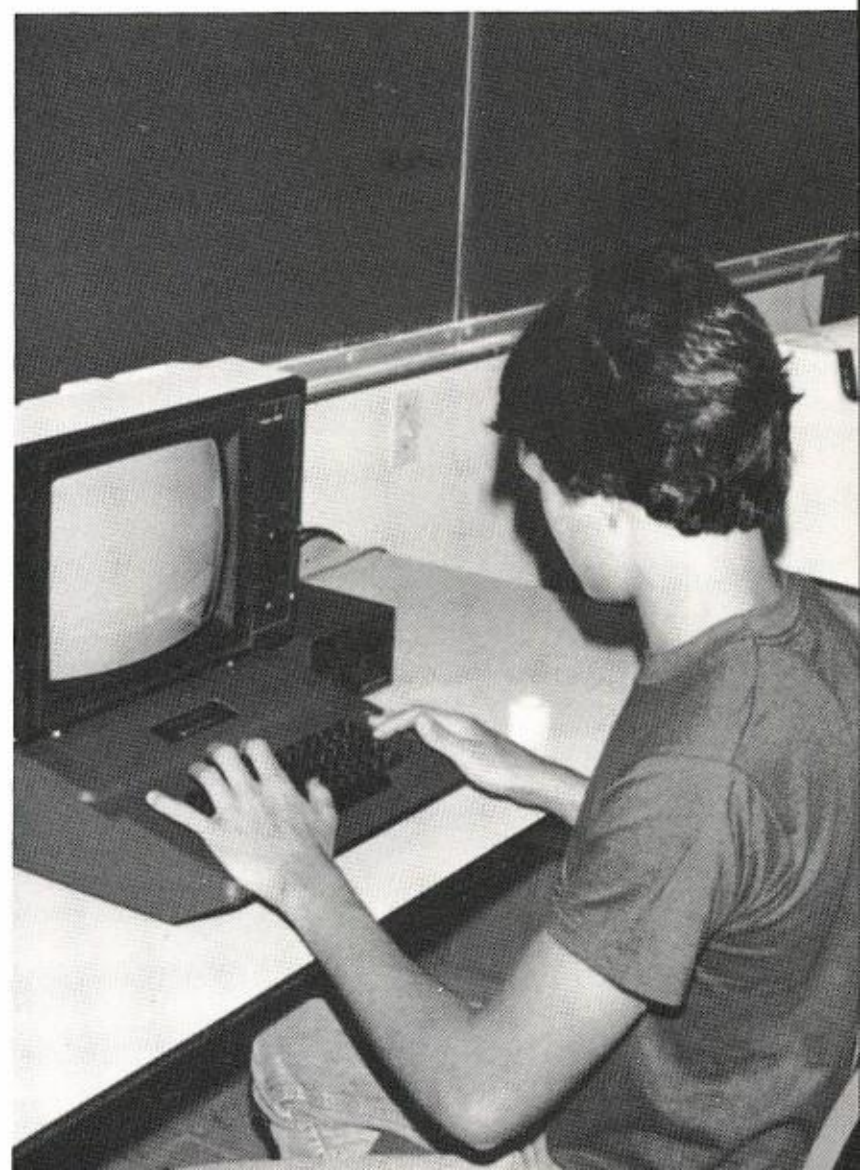

The mathematics program at Maine West is designed to provide the students with the opportunity to develop their potential to the fullest. Each beginning student registers for a mathematics course in which the content and methods are appropriate to his ability.

"The teachers of mathematics strive to help students improve in computational skills and in problem solving techniques as they pursue the study of mathematics," explained Dr. Dean Gould, Mathematics Department Chairman.

The computer has become an important tool in several mathematics classes. The Maine West mathematics program is enhanced by teachers involving the computer in the instructional process. Teachers and students further investigate mathematical relationships through the power of this electronic instrument.

Maine West offers seventeen mathematics courses each year.

BELOW: Steve Wells types in a program on the computer.

Driver, Physical Education

Driver Education prepares Maine West students for the highway transportation system. The driver education teachers try to accomplish their goals through a three phase program.

The classroom phase of instruction seeks to develop proper attitudes; to instill a sense of responsibility; to make the student aware of and responsible to laws, rules, and regulations and those who administer and enforce them; and to prepare the student to be a safe and courteous driver.

The simulator phase of instruction gives a student realism without risk to himself, other drivers, pedestrians or property.

The behind-the-wheel phase of instruction gives the student driving practice in a dual-control car with a qualified instructor.

Driver Education students make use of the school campus in practicing their driving skills. (RIGHT) BELOW: Mr. Roger Osborne instructs Driver Education students in the proper use of seatbelts.

Emphasize 'Motor Skills'

Hundreds of students visit the LRC daily to prepare for class assignments or to enjoy leisure reading. The current print and non-print collection and the LRC staff are available for students and faculty. The Rotary Reading Room and Tutorial Center also provides students with learning opportunities. Numerous student assistants, in their role as learner-helper, assist the student-body and faculty.

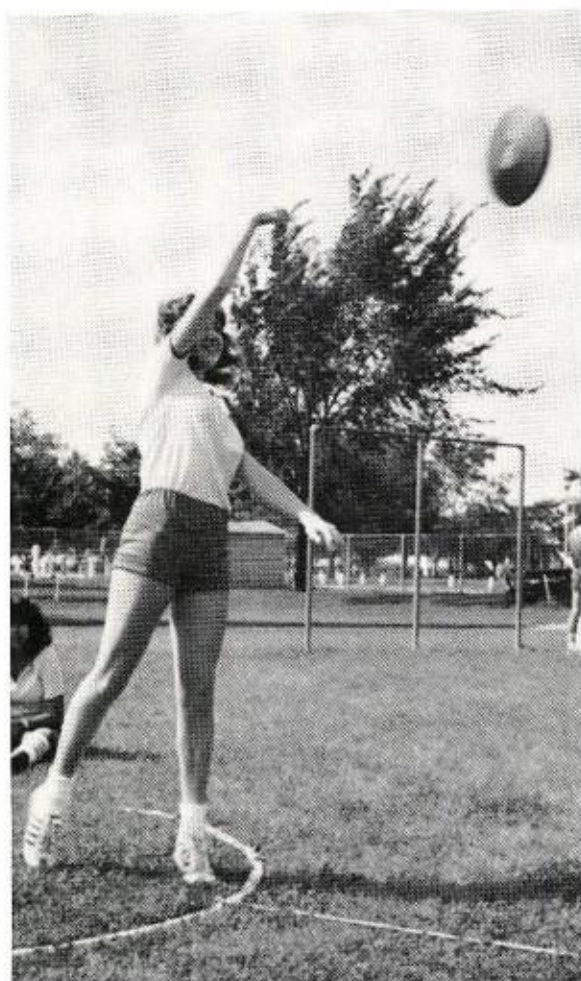

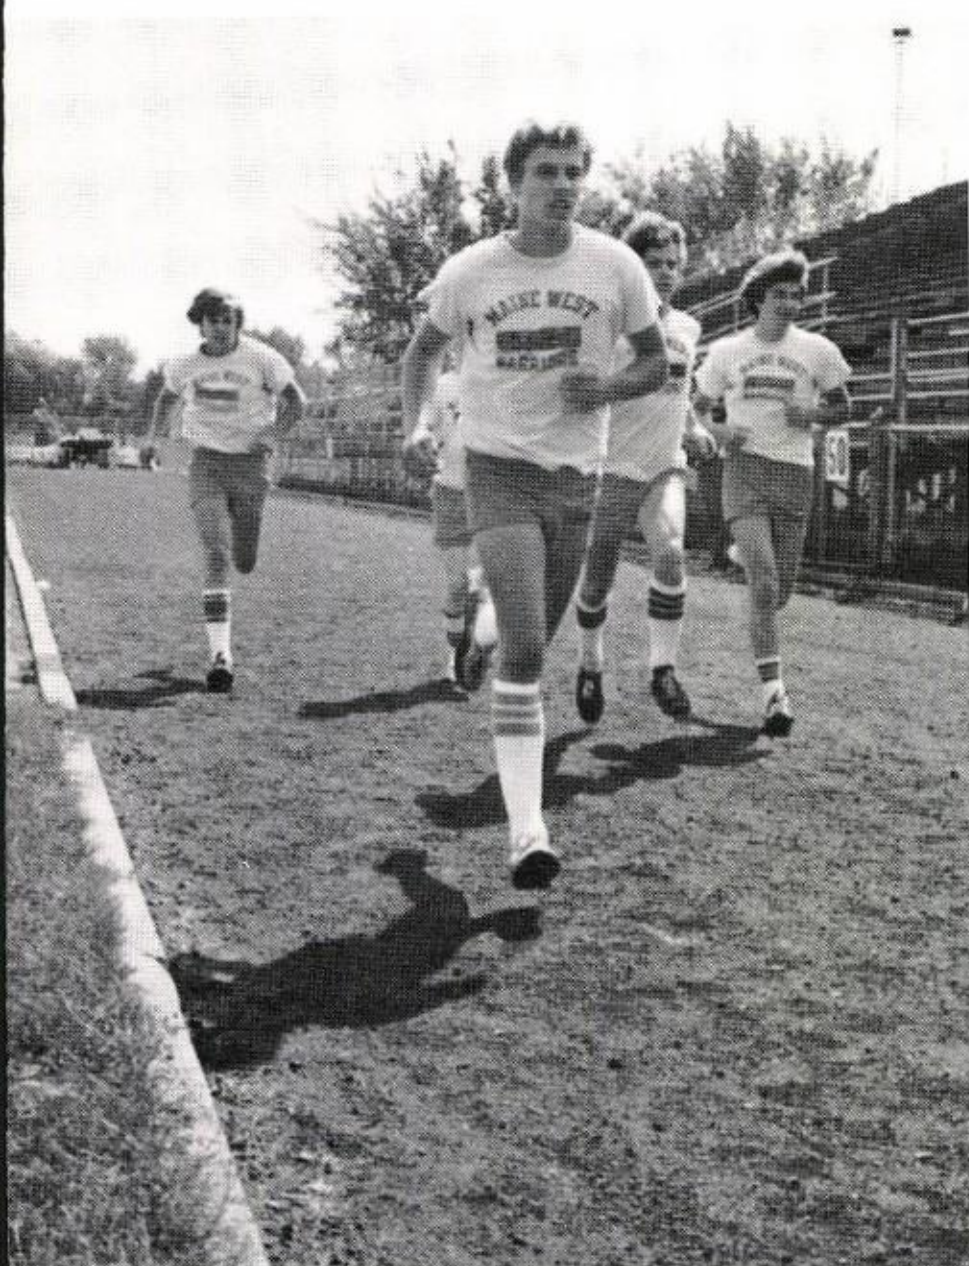

The instructional program in physical education has as its foundation a common core of learning experiences of four years for all students.

"This core of experience is implemented to serve the needs of all students—the gifted, the average, the slow learner, the physically handicapped," explained Mr. Dick Carlini, chairman of boys' physical education.

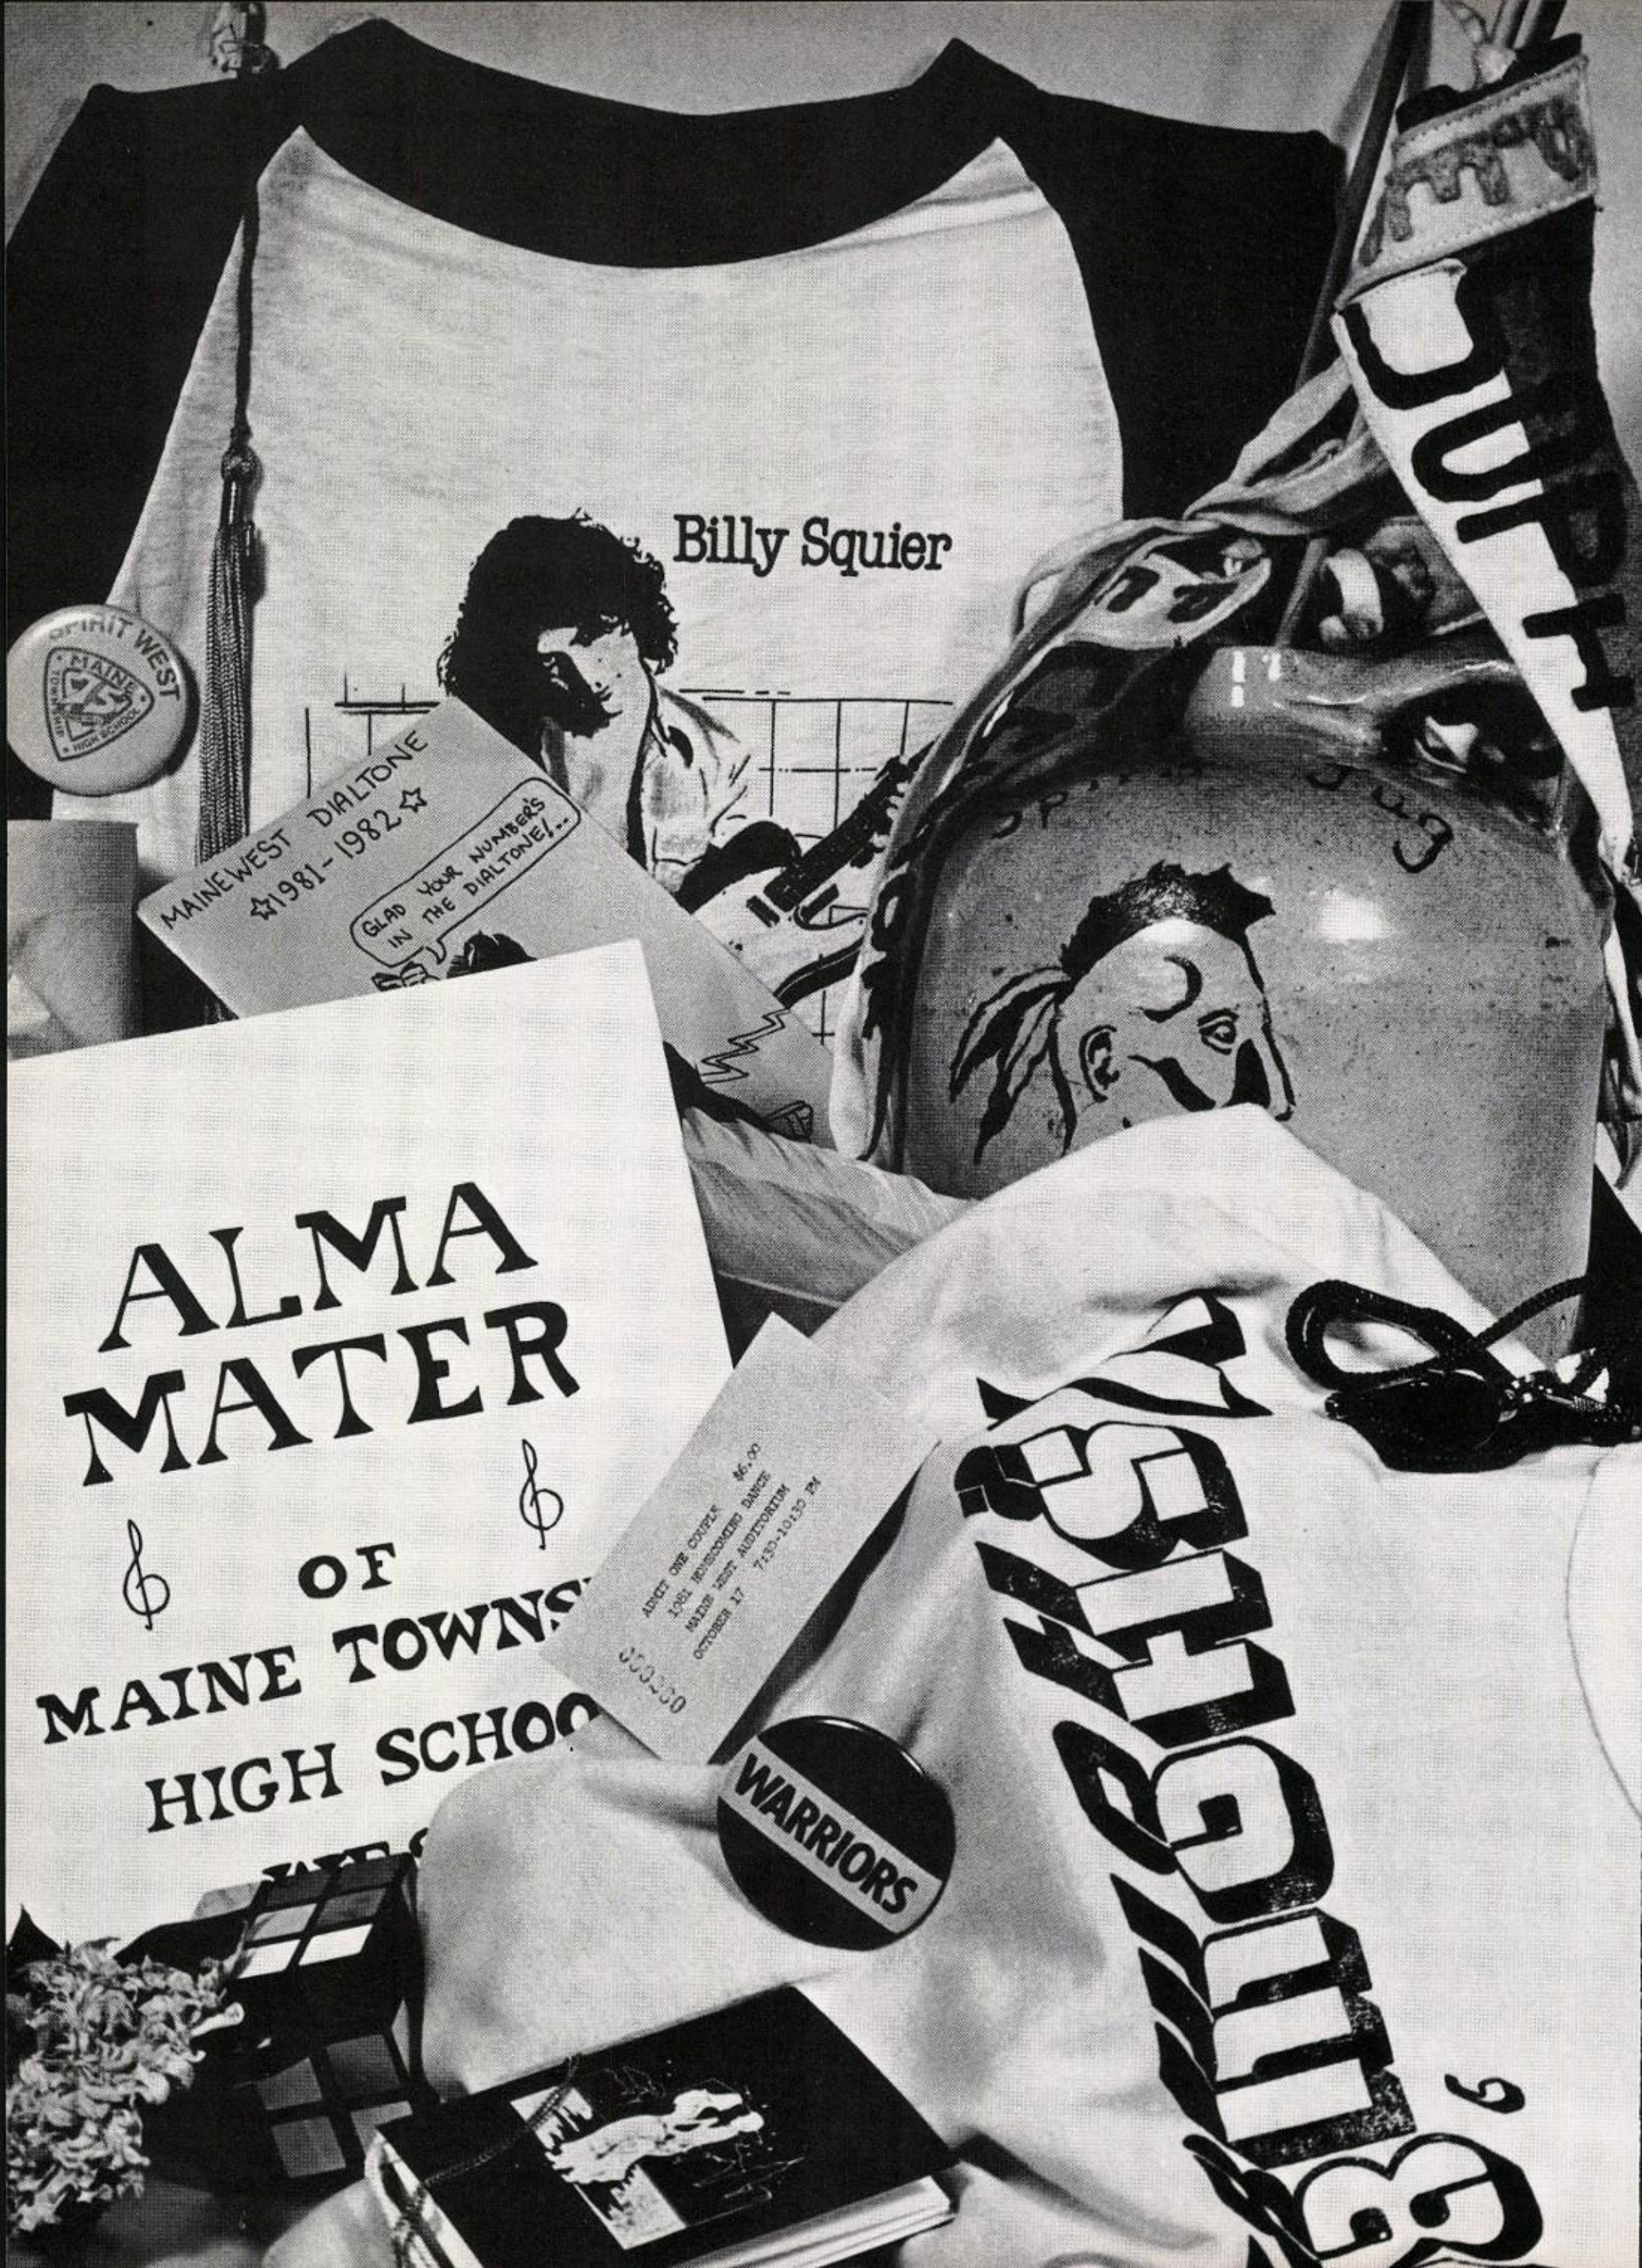

"The Physical Education Department strives for an educationally sound balance in those activities commonly grouped as team, dual, and individual sports, aquatics, gymnastics, self-testing activities, dance and rhythms," emphasized Ms. Millie McManus, chairman of the girls' physical education department.

Physical education classes for juniors and seniors range from cross country skiing to scuba diving to badminton.

Dr. Murphy Joins District 207;

Dr. John A. Murphy became superintendent of District 207 on September 15, 1981. Dr. Murphy had served as superintendent of the Wake County Public Schools in Raleigh, North Carolina before joining District 207.

Maine Township High School District 207 has enjoyed a well deserved reputation for excellence in secondary education for many years, and the community, acting through the Board of Education, has expressed its support by consistently providing public resources at a high level to develop, maintain, and expand the total educational program.

As District 207 enters the 1980's, it shares the problems of most suburban systems—declining enrollments, excess facilities, the pressure of inflation, and severe problems in cost containment. In this context, our district has embarked on a series of detailed studies to determine appropriate strategies for dealing with the problems of retrenchment. We will use Project S.E.E. (Secondary Education for the Eighties) as a foundation.

Project S.E.E. involved hundreds of area citizens as well as district professional staff to examine the future direction for our schools. We plan to examine available funding, alternate sources of funding, staffing patterns in relation to projected enrollment decline, management strategies, communication patterns, and instructional priorities.

Credit for the excellent national reputation earned in District 207 is justifiably shared by the total community. We must keep our joint responsibility clearly in focus as we determine accountability for the future. Many hard decisions will have to be made in the months ahead if we are to successfully meet the challenge of the 80's. I am confident that challenge will be met.

BOARD OF EDUCATION: FRONT: Mrs. Anne Evans, Mr. Howard Blassman, Mr. William Schaeffe. BACK: Mr. Thomas Rueckert, president; Mrs. Arlynn Warmack, Mr. John Flavin, Mr. William Tornose, vice-president.

West Named 'The School That Works'

Principal James L. Coburn explains the importance of being a Maine West Warrior.

Maine West is a school that works. You may remember President Reagan's statement that Maine West is one of the top fifteen high schools in the nation and recently the Suburban Sun Times recognized Maine West as one of the six outstanding high schools in the state.

Whether you plan to attend college or enter the world of work, Maine West has something special to offer you, nearly three hundred courses and an extensive extra-curricular program.

The key to your success, however, lies not exclusively with Maine West, but with you. I wish to appeal personally to each one of you. Take advantage of the quality programs available to you. Never in your life will you have another opportunity to reach your potential; to interact with a quality instructional staff; select from among the many educational programs; to participate in sports, drama, and various clubs as you can throughout your four years at Maine West.

Studies have shown that not only are you reaching the prime of your life, but your capacity to learn is greater now than it ever will be in the future. You are in the process of developing your potential and making friends for life!

You are now becoming what you will be! Occasionally take a few moments to think and reflect about yourself; where you have been, where you are now, what your hopes and dreams are for the future . . . I am proud of Maine West . . . I am proud of our students . . . I am proud to be your principal!

Maine West physical education instructor Royleen Tipton displays the sports plaque she received after her induction into the Illinois State University Hall of Fame. Maine West principal James Coburn congratulated Coach Tipton. Ms. Tipton was one of 11 national candidates inducted into the Sports Hall of Fame and was presented with a Hall of Fame plaque during half-time ceremonies of Illinois State's first home football game on September 5.

"I am very honored to be selected but I am even more pleased for the recognition this brings to girls' sports and especially to volleyball," explained Coach Tipton.

As an undergraduate at Illinois State, she earned letters in volleyball, golf, basketball, and field hockey.

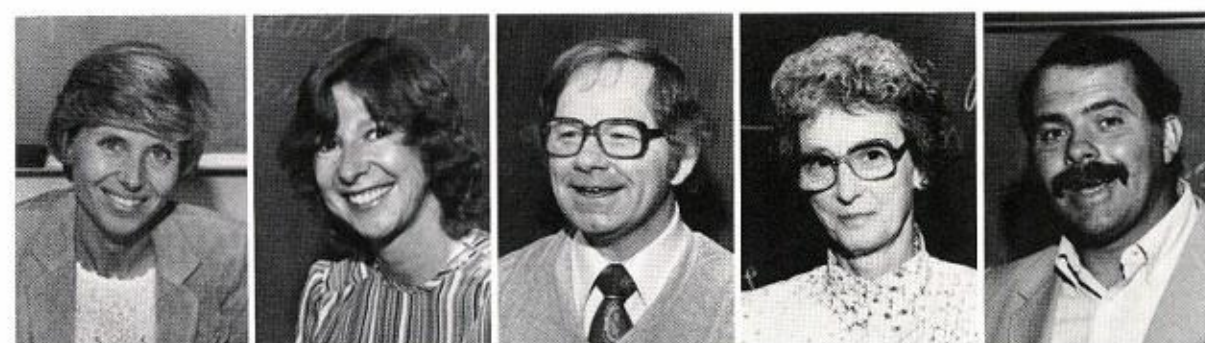

Three Maine West English instructors participated in the Illinois Association of Teachers of English (IATE) state convention during October in Peoria. Mr. Hass, chairman of Maine West's English Department, is first vice-president of the IATE. Mr. Silkowski spoke to English teachers at the state convention. He discussed holistic scoring, a method currently being used in grading the Advanced Placement test and the English Composition Test. Support Staff—The Working Warriors

Most Warriors fight other teams from other schools. But the support staff battles different opponents—litter, dirt, red tape, and other problems connected with the complicated task of running a school like Maine West.

Cafeteria staff—feeding the masses of hungry warriors. This tribe travels on its stomach, as evidenced by the amount of food sold each day. Students consume about 1,500 cartons of milk each day, along with some 200 hamburgers and 100 hot dogs. When pizza, the most popular item, is served, about 700 are eaten. These foods are prepared and served every day by the cafeteria staff.

Secretaries battle the daily rigors of school life, keeping track of the many people, places, and events concerning Maine West.

Keeping the school in good condition is the maintenance men's job. They clean, polish, sweep, and keep the grounds neat as part of their daily activities.

The security people patrol the school and grounds and try to keep people out of trouble.

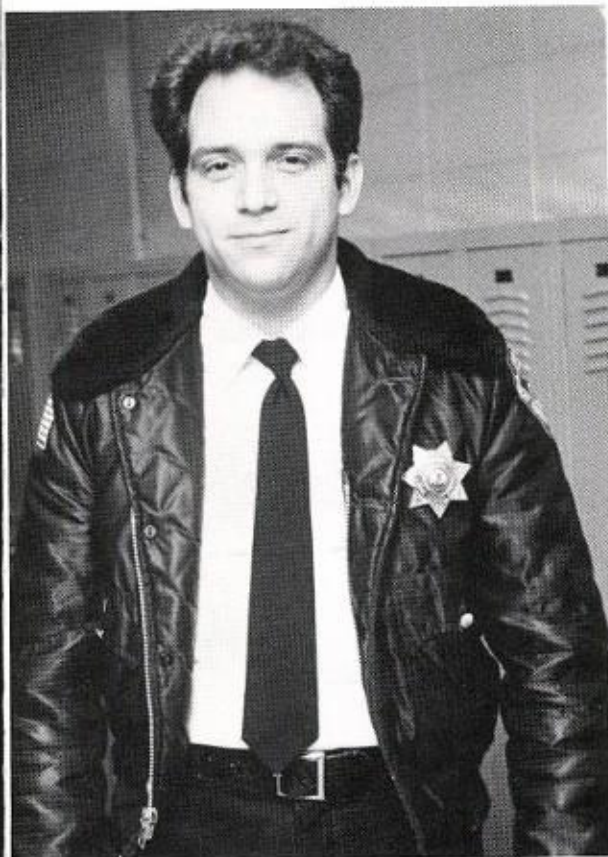

Teacher aides assist teachers by preparing lesson plans and materials, grading papers, and generally giving teachers more time with their classes.

Harriers Qualify for State Meet

The Maine West girls' Cross Country team, along with John Dobbs, qualified for the state meet. The girls finished in seventh place, and Trisha Kiraly, the top runner for Maine West, came in fifteenth place. Trisha and John were both named all-state runners.

John Dobbs was the only boy on the team to qualify. The boys' team missed qualifying by one place.

The girls' team consisted of four freshmen, Trisha Kiraly, Jean Mundt, Ann Beyer, and Paulette Gehrke; two juniors, Bridget Boyajian and Karen Henke; and one senior, Denise Kearns.

Maine West had to play Mother McAuley first. Maine West won the first game of the match with a score of 15-12, but lost the next two with the same score of 7-15.

Mother McAuley went on to become the champions of the tournament.

Maine West gave Mother McAuley their only loss of the season.

After winning both school and district competitions, Cathy advanced to the state meet held February 13 in Springfield where she placed fifth.

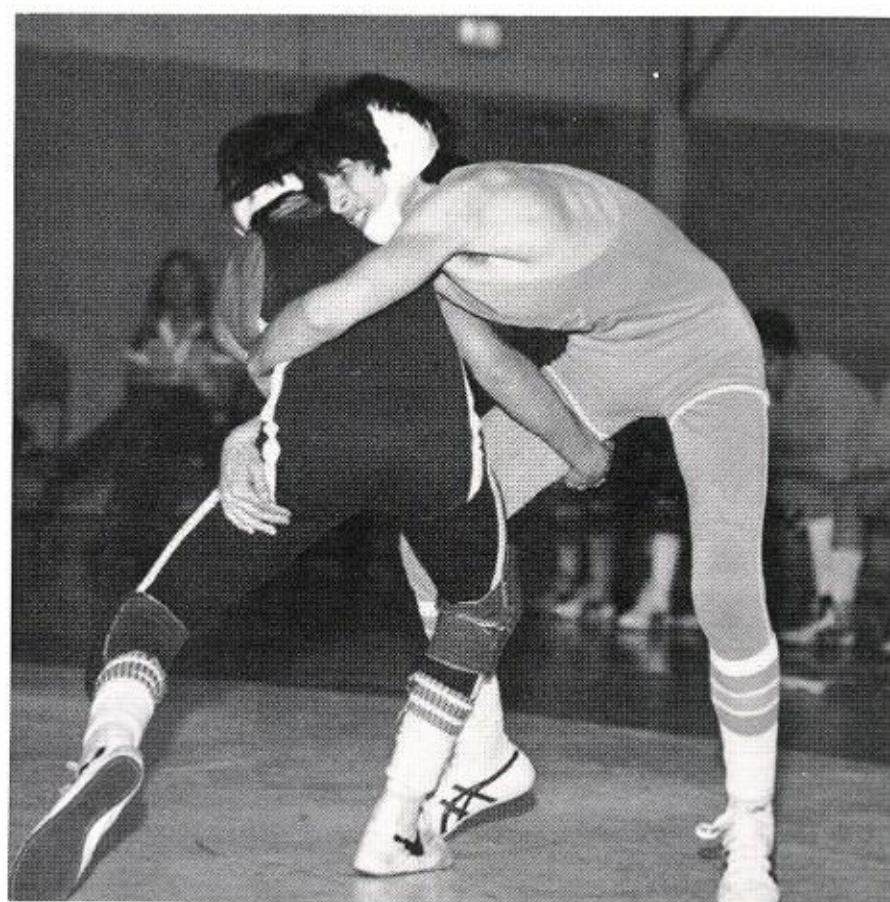

Fencers Foil to First in State

Maine West's fencing team out foiled its opponents to place first in state competition. In addition to placing first in state the team placed third in the Midwest Fencing Championships. Unfortunately, Jack was eliminated in the first round of the state meet when he lost 6-1 to Tim Dalcobbo of Tinley Park. When asked about the meet Jack explained, "I thought that I could have wrestled better, but I am just glad I had the shot."
